

SUPPORT PLEDGED
BY ROTARY CLUB

Resolution Expresses Desire to Co-operate With The Seymour Chamber of Commerce.

AIM IS COMMUNITY SERVICE

Value of Civil Organization to City and County is Fully Recognized by The Rotarians.

At a recent meeting of the Seymour Rotary Club resolutions pledging the united and co-operative support of the Rotary Club of this city to the plans and aspirations of the Seymour Chamber of Commerce, were passed.

The resolution was presented by the committee on public enterprise, and places the Rotary club on record to actively support all public enterprises.

The resolution is as follows:

"Whereas, one of the objects of a Rotary Club is to support and assist in every possible, legitimate way all commercial organizations and bodies engaged in enterprises for the development of the community, and

"Whereas, the membership of this Rotary club desires to live up to the purpose and principle of Rotary.

"Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved, that the secretary notify the secretary of the chamber of commerce that the individual members of the Rotary club of Seymour stand ready and willing at all times to assist the chamber of commerce in every possible way in all enterprises for the upbuilding and betterment of the community, and that the chamber of commerce is urged to submit to this club through our secretary, any matters in which they desire the support and co-operation of our members.

"Be It Further Resolved, that the secretary file a copy of this resolution with the secretary of the chamber of commerce."

The Rotary club has issued the following statement:

"Many persons have labored under the erroneous impression that the Rotary club was an organization, with a purpose to do community service on a parity with the chamber of commerce. This is an entirely incorrect understanding, since the Rotary club is merely a voluntary association of business men, chosen according to a process designed to

SEYMOUR ROTARY CLUB
HOLDS NOON LUNCHEON

Several Subjects of Public Interest Brought Up in Round Table Discussion.

The Seymour Rotary Club held its regular weekly noon luncheon at the New Lynn today. At the close of the luncheon a number of subjects of public interest were discussed in an informal manner. The discussion resolved itself more into an expression of opinion by various members of the club and no action was taken on any of the subjects as it is not the plan of the Rotary Club to act on matters of public interest which belong to the field of the Chamber of Commerce.

W. C. Young, president of the Chamber of Commerce, presented a report on the action of that body on the resolutions which were passed by the Rotary Club two or three weeks ago. These resolutions appear in another column of today's paper, and express the purpose of the Rotary Club to co-operate in every way with the Chamber of Commerce in all matters of public interest.

Other subjects discussed during the meeting were the proposed enlargement of the corporate limits of Seymour, the equalization of tax assessments in the city and the county, the telephone toll order which became effective Saturday night at midnight, the dairy show which is to be held in Seymour during the latter part of October. In all the discussion there was a general spirit of eagerness to do the thing which will help Seymour as a whole to develop its resources and capacities to the fullest extent.

PLANNING FOR A BIG MEETING

Chamber of Commerce Will Hold Smoker and Serve Refreshments Friday Night.

MEMBERS URGED TO ATTEND

Several Matters of Importance Will Be Up For Discussion at The Session.

W. C. Young, president of the Chamber of Commerce, announced today that plans are being made for a big meeting at the city building Friday evening. Arrangements have been completed for holding a smoker and a "Chamber of Commerce" special will be served.

Several matters of importance will be up or the consideration of the members and it is the desire of the president that everyone be there to express his opinion. It is understood that several interesting talks on local topics have been arranged.

Mr. Young stated today that the meeting would begin promptly at 8 o'clock and it is desired that the members be there promptly so that the regular routine of business can be disposed of as early as possible. The smoker will be held following the regular business session. There will be plenty of smokes for all and everybody present will get their share of the "Chamber of Commerce Special."

JOHN HANCOCK, HELD FOR MURDER, IS RELEASED

Judge J. W. Craig in Decatur Circuit Court Dismisses Case Against Indianapolis Man.

John Hancock, colored, who was held in the Bartholomew county jail at Columbus, on an indictment charging murder in the first degree growing out of the killing of Elmer Robbins, Big Four detective, at Greensburg, was released by Judge J. W. Craig in the Decatur circuit court. The indictment was nolleed on motion of the prosecuting attorney. Hancock was arrested in Indianapolis with Thomas Washington, colored, and the latter escaped from the Columbus jail where he was taken for safe keeping. Later his body was found in White river. Hancock was able to convince the authorities that he did not fire the shot that killed the detective.

When Judge Craig released the colored man, he admonished him to in the future steer clear of the illicit whiskey traffic that got him into the present trouble and Hancock most eagerly said he was through with the business for good.

CHICAGO TO FIGHT THE TELEPHONE RATE INCREASE

Members of Congress Urged to Permit City to Work Out Its Own Problem.

By United Press
Chicago, June 10.—Chicago will not now submit to increase of telephone rates. This was the challenge issued by the city today in its effort to have the government's rate increase rescinded following council's adoption of resolutions late yesterday against the rates.

The resolution provides that all members of congress be asked to do what they can to see that the city be permitted to work out its own salvation.

The Chicago Telephone company recently issued an order abolishing flat rates, effective June 16, and making all charges on a per message basis.

JOHNSON'S DEATH IS INVESTIGATED

Bartholomew County Authorities Not Certain That Man Was Killed by J. W. Phillips.

EXAMINATION OF THE BODY

Parents of Henderson Brothers Did Not Know of Their Trouble Until Last Saturday.

The parents of the Henderson brothers who were recently arrested at Columbus in connection with the theft of two barrels of whiskey from a Pennsylvania freight car in this city, are visiting them in the Bartholomew county jail and are ready to do what they can in their behalf. The Hendersons, it develops, live in Nashville, Brown county, and did not learn of their sons' trouble until last Saturday. They immediately went to Columbus.

The body of John Johnson, who was killed in a running fight with Columbus police, has been examined and it is said that the authorities there are not sure that Phillips fatally wounded the man.

The Columbus Herald prints the following story which is of interest here:

Secrecy is being strictly exercised by local officers concerning any information in connection with the case and a guard is being kept, constantly at the jail. Many rumors and much discussion has grown out of the affair, and especially in regards to the killing of John Johnson, one of the gang who escaped at the time of the capture.

Johnson was in a running fight with the officers that morning, early and later was in another pistol fight with officers John Phillips and Patrolman Ed Jones, north of the city. It was taken for granted that Phillips was the officer who killed Johnson, but this seems to be erroneous, as an inquest held over the body of Johnson, showed that shot from the gun carried by Phillips had not penetrated deeply into the body. On the other hand, bullets, were the cause of his death, and it is thought he was hit in both fighting affrays. The fighting during the early hours of the morning was participated in by several officers, and it is more than likely Johnson was struck at that time, although this could not be definitely ascertained. However, it would be a hard matter to tell just which shot killed the man, and just which officer did the shooting. The officers are putting little credence to the stories circulating around, but they are taking little chance in giving the boys a chance to get away or to secure help from the outside. Pictures of the men together with that of A. J. Meyers, who escaped from the jail a few weeks ago, in a jail delivery perpetrated by Thomas Washington, have been received by Chief of Police Cooper.

$2,468 GIVEN FOR SALVATION ARMY

Final Report on Campaign in Jackson County Filed by C. H. Wiethoff, in Charge of Drive.

THIS TOWNSHIP LEADS LIST

Vernon is Second With $343.95, Brownstown Third With $272.64 and Driftwood is Fourth.

Jackson county contributed a total of $2,297.15 during the recent drive for the Salvation Army, according to a report compiled today by C. H. Wiethoff, chairman of the campaign committee. This is the final report and all supplies used in the drive have been called in by the organization workers. The county's quota was $3,708 and this is the first time that Jackson county failed to meet its apportionment in any war agency work.

A summary of the report shows that there are pledges to the amount of $71.55, but these are included in the final report as cash. Most of the contributions were small and were made in cash to the solicitors. It is believed that one reason the county failed to meet its apportionment is that everyone was confident that the campaign would be a success because of the small amount of money to be raised. There was an absence of the intensive work which characterized similar drives and everyone with whom the solicitors talked expressed the firm conviction that the quota would be largely oversubscribed.

The doughnut sale here netted $170.98, the report shows. Salt Creek township reported no contribution. It is said that the division of the township about the time the drive was started interfered considerably with the work.

Jackson township leads the list in the amount of contributions with $1,219.66 and Vernon is second with $343.95. The list of contributions by townships follows:

Township	Contributions
Jackson	$1,219.66
Vernon	343.95
Brownstown	272.64
Driftwood	161.00
Redding	99.63
Hamilton	63.35
Carr	49.13
Owen	47.69
Washington	25.30
Grassy Fork	14.80
Salt Creek	None
	$2,297.15
Doughnut Fund	170.98

BOARD WILL HEAR
ALL GRIEVANCES

Separate Dates Set by Board of Review for Different Townships and Corporations.

COMMITTEES TO BE APPOINTED

Will Hear Personal Complaints at Any Time—Members Are Kept Busy.

The county board of review in session at Brownstown has set aside dates for hearing grievances on taxation or other matters within their jurisdiction. In order that all townships and corporations can have a proper hearing, dates have been set for representatives of each to appear before the board.

It has been recommended that each township select a committee of three to appear before the board and state the different complaints that should have the board's attention. The cities and towns will also send committees to consult the board. However, it was stated today by Henry Albersing, county treasurer, that the board was ready at any time to listen to persons having personal grievances to bring up regardless of the dates set for the hearing of the different township committees.

It was stated that it has been customary for the township assessor to appoint the committee in his respective township and already some of them have selected their representatives. Owing to the unusual conditions in the county assessing this year it is believed that many grievances will be taken up with the board. The members of the board of review have been exceptionally busy during the past few days as numerous matters have been up for their consideration. Already a number of complaints have been heard from persons who were of the opinion that they had not been given the proper assessment and some adjustments have been recommended by the board as a result.

Two days have been set aside, June 26 and 27, in which the board will devote its time to hearing objections from persons living in Seymour. The board has set the dates for hearing the committees from the other corporations and townships as follows: Driftwood, June 12; Grassy Fork, June 13, Brownstown, June 16; Washington, June 17; Jackson, June 18; Redding, June 19; Vernon, June 20; Hamilton, June 23; Carr, June 24; Owen, June 25; town of Brownstown, June 30; town of Crothersville, July 1, town of Medora, July 2. The date for Salt Creek township will be set later.

REPARATION SUM

Question of Fixed Sum of Damages To Be Paid By Germany Under Discussion.

ADMISSION OF GERMANY

American and British Delegates Said to Favor Early Entrance of Germany in World League.

By United Press

Paris, June 10. Reports of the various allied commissions regarding German counter proposals were before the big four today. Some of the reports, it was learned, are ready to be incorporated in the allied reply expected to be submitted Friday, while others probably will result in further discussion. In this class are the questions of a fixed sum for reparations and early admission of Germany in the league of nations.

A lively debate on the latter was anticipated. The British and Americans, it was understood, favor earliest possible admission of the Germans, the French hotly opposing.

The big four also was expected to devote some time to solution of the problem presented by the three-cornered warfare in which the Roumanians, Czechs and Hungarians figure. The allies are reported to have dispatched an ultimatum to the Hungarian soviet government demanding it cease its attack on the Czechs.

The Adriatic question is now reported to have been virtually settled.

REGINALD BRINKLOW MAY BE BAND DIRECTOR HERE

Members Endeavoring to Interest Conductor of Rainbow Band—Midweek Concerts Proposed.

A movement is on foot among the members of the Seymour concert band to contract with Reginald Brinklow, conductor of the Indiana Rainbow Band, to become director of the local band. Adolph Steinwedel, who has successfully conducted the band since its organization, is interested in the movement to have Brinklow come here as director as it is realized that his previous experience would mean much for the local organization.

It is proposed that midweek concerts be given in the city, either on the streets or at Shields Park. The merchants will be asked to contribute a stipulated sum each week to defray the expenses of these concerts and it is believed they would be popular with the public. A number of merchants whose attention has been called to the matter have declared themselves in favor of the plan.

WHY THE MYSTERY?

The operation of the federal wire administration is mystifying. So many changes are made that the public does not know what to expect next, except that it is assured that whatever comes will bring an additional burden of expense. Government management of public utilities, as we have witnessed it during the last two years, has been a miserable and expensive failure but most miserable of all is the control of the telegraphs and telephones under the management of Postmaster Burleson. The American public prefers to look upon its leaders as men of experience and wisdom. The failure of the wire administration must be the result of inability. Then why does the present system of control remain?

Recently Mr. Burleson announced that the control of the telegraph and telephone systems had been returned to their owners. The congress immediately began to discuss the situation but before any program of legislation could be mapped out the said Mr. Burleson announced that while the "control" had been returned to the original owners the management remained in his hands. In other words he maps out what is to be done and the companies are privileged to work out the details. The public sympathizes with the companies which find themselves in the position of working out the "control" of their lines according to the policy of management and supervision adopted by the Burleson administration.

We cannot conceive of a federal order being so far-reaching and drastic that it would be intended to reach out and disturb conditions in any locality, conditions which are peculiar to such localities. If such regulations are permitted to stand, it will be the first time in history that the American government has ever exercised such authority. Local telephone lines which are designed to meet only local conditions belong to the community in which they are operated. If the government wants to take over long distance wires that extend to different parts of the country, a different situation is presented, but local telephone systems pertain absolutely and entirely to the respective communities. If the government can bestow such autocratic powers upon any department or individual there is nothing to prevent an extension of such power so that one man may sit in Washington and tell Seymour what streets it may improve, how much salary the mayor and city councilmen must be paid and what vegetables a resident of the city is permitted to grow in his backlot garden. From the temporary white house in Paris comes the word that America is progressing rapidly. It is agreed that the progress is rapid, but there would be a more profound feeling of contentment and happiness if in some respects we could slip back to the good old days when sound American principles were enjoyed without so many new fangled frills.

CHRISTIAN CHURCHES OF TWO STATES IN SESSION

Annual Conference for Indiana and Illinois Held at Union College, Merom.

By United Press

Merom, Ind., June 10.—Christian churches of Indiana and Illinois were represented at the annual conference, which opened at Union Christian college here today, for a two-day session.

One of the important matters to come before the conference is the proposal to launch a campaign for $100,000 as an additional endowment of the college. It was also planned to dedicate the Hatten buildings which will be used as a gymnasium and school.

W. C. Pearce Chicago, international Sunday School superintendent, was to address the gathering. Other speakers included: Dr. W. H. Denison, Dayton, O.; Dr. R. C. Helfenstein Urbana, Ill.; and Dr. A. D. Woodworth, Tokio, Japan.

The meeting is held in connection with the college commencement. The graduation exercises tomorrow will put forth the largest class of several years.

Spraying Potatoes.

The "slugs" of the Colorado potato beetle are making their appearance in great numbers and if careful watch is not kept are certain to exact a heavy toll.

Paris green, formerly much recommended for biting and chewing insects is being superseded to a considerable degree by lead arsenate. It is less costly and is preferable for the following reasons: (1) It serves the same purpose as Paris green against leaf eating insects. (2) It is applied in the same manner; (3) It is less harmful to growing plants; (4) It adheres better to the foliage; (5) It is less troublesome to prepare; and (6) the white coating which it leaves on the plants after spraying shows which plants have not been reached by the treatment.

Arsenate of lead is sold in both powder and paste forms. At the rate of two pounds of powder or four pounds of paste to 50 gallons of water, it will destroy cabbage worms and most other caterpillars, the "slugs" and adults of the Colorado potato beetle, cucumber beetle and most other insects of this nature. In small gardens an ounce of the powder form, or ten level teaspoonfuls, to one gallon of water is used.

Generally, the adhesiveness of lead arsenate is enhanced by the addition of a "sticker" of about the same weight of dissolved soap as of the arsenical used. If properly applied the leaves should show a thin coating of the poison for a long time.

The number of sprayings to be applied will depend on the insect concerned in the injury and on local seasonal conditions. Sometimes a single application at the proper time will suffice, although two or three are required for the cabbage worm, potato beetle, and certain other insects which produce more than one generation annually.

Save the Ten Cents.

Beginning June 10, a minimum price of fifteen cents for cash, and an additional ten cents when charged, will be made on all classified or other short locals. If the local is ordered by telephone the money may be sent to the office the same day before it is charged on our books and the extra charge will not be made.

We find the cost of charging these small items, making out bills and collecting them often amounts to more than the local itself. The extra ten cents that will be charged will partly compensate the office for this extra work and expense. But you can save it by paying cash when the local is ordered.

Exception will be made in the case of business firms with whom we have regular monthly accounts.

REPLEVIN SUIT
Walter Garvey Seeking to Recover
Automobile Tires.

A replevin suit filed in Justice John Congdon's court by Walter Garvey in which he is seeking to recover some automobile tires is set for trial Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The tires are in the possession of J. T. Abell, chief of police, who is made the defendant in the case. The tires were stolen from an Express company at Indianapolis several months ago and shipped to this city and sold to Mr. Garvey by Carl Breitfield. The express company traced the tires here and replevied them from Mr. Garvey. The case was recently disposed of in an Indianapolis court and it was the understanding that Mr. Garvey was to be refunded the money he paid for the tires. The plaintiff alleges that he has not been refunded and is seeking to recover the tires.

"Cone Dwellers" Had No Fear of the Landlord.

FIRST APARTMENT HOUSES

Homes of the Troglodytes in Cappadocian Valley in Asia Minor Were Shaped by Eroding Action of Flowing Water Some 2,000 Years Before Christ—Each Succeeding Generation Has Helped Make Dwellings More Habitable.

Refutation of the common belief that apartment houses are a development of modern methods in building and that the idea of housing 30 to 50 families under one roof was thought of first in the nineteenth century, is contained in an article on "The Cone Dwellers of Asia Minor," published in the National Geographic Magazine. The late Dr. J. R. Sillington Starrett, traveler and explorer, the author of the article, presents a history of his inspection of the land of the Troglodytes whose homes in the Cappadocian valley were shaped by the eroding action of flowing water some 2,000 years before Christ, and stand today, "walk-ups" it is true, but nevertheless nature's own apartment houses. The habitations are cone-shaped. Pumice stone is the material of which they are made, and to protect them from the action of rain nature provided them with roofs of lava that was belched from nearby volcanoes. Compared to those of more modern civilization, the homes of the cone-dwellers lack much that makes for comfort. Needless to state, they are not provided with lighting systems, running water, elevators, superintendents, dumb-waiters and bellboys. But in their favor is the fact that no rent need be paid nor leases signed; no neighbors' children can disturb one because the floors are of thick stone, and burglars find business unprofitable because once the Troglodytes family turns in for the night, the "stairs" is pulled up after them.

Improve Their Homes. The present generation of Troglodytes has improved on the dwellings left them by their ancestors. In fact each succeeding generation has done its bit to make the stone houses more habitable. For instance, Doctor Starrett explains that in some locations, where the simple cones were the original dwellings, the Troglodytes have improved the situation by building facades of pumice stone in front of them.

Apparently the cones already were standing when the forefathers of the present Troglodytes entered the Cappadocian valley. They were solid, however, and considerable work was necessary to make apartment houses of them.

Primitive tools were used to cut entrances and once the first hole was made, the workers spread themselves, so to speak, and proceeded to enlarge the space inside. The entrance tunnels branched off into rooms; windows were then cut, and the Troglodytes moved in. Everything portable that was owned by the Troglodyte was carried into his apartment and stored away in the store room.

The mere fact that a cone already was inhabited, made no difference to a Troglodyte who liked its appearance. If he found a friend living inside, he burrowed a home under or over that friend's home. In many instances, Doctor Starrett wrote, cones were found to be or to have been used by four or five families. The entrances were found level with the ground in many cases, while on the other hand there were cone dwellings the entrances to which were located far above the surface.

Evidently the Troglodyte of ancient times was a long-fingered, strong toed individual. Small clefts in the surface of the cones' side were used in climbing to and from the apartments. Many of the Troglodytes of today, the article explains, use a pole in entering or leaving the house.

Use Pole for Stairway. And the modern Troglodyte, using a long wooden pole as a means of entering his home, shows little progress in architecture. None of his ancestors were brought up to the fresh-air habit. Their sleeping rooms for the most part were not constructed so that air might circulate. Examination of the interior rooms indicates that the Troglodytes of the pre-Christian era were content to live in almost total darkness.

So today their descendants pay little attention to light and air. Fresh air and sunlight find their way into just one room. That is located at the entrance. The other rooms are always in inky blackness, unless the occupants of the house let the wind and rain exert their forces on his walls. Thus a window may force its presence upon them.

Bed Posts in Fence. A Shawnee County, Kansas, farmer, William T. Stock, has more than two miles of fence, of which the posts are all iron bed posts bought from Topeka junk dealers. He paid from 5 to 7 1/2 cents apiece for them and estimates he has a permanent fence at a saving of $200. Stock does a good deal of junk yard shopping. He has an automobile trailer made from an old spring wagon, salvaged automobile wheels and home-made axles, hubs and spindles.

TELLS OF FLIGHT
ACROSS THE ANDES

Chilean Airman Writes Story of Great South American Air Feat.

Washington.—Latin America rapidly is producing notable aviators. Every encouragement to flying is given by numerous private clubs that look upon aviation as a sport and as the solution of difficult problems of the transportation of mail, passengers and merchandise. Frequently only a few miles of airline separate two important towns between which communication except by wire is a matter of days, if not weeks. This is due to mountainous topography, lack of railways and the rough and winding character of the few roads and trails. These handicaps seem only to stimulate the young South American to greater feats in the air and the governments to overcome them by establishing regular service as a matter of business. Together these forces are working a development of aviation in South America.

Flight Across Andes.

The particulars of the recent flight across the Andes of Lieut. Dagoberto Godoy of Chile, have come to the Pan-American Union for publication in its next bulletin. As the ocean adventure will be the greatest straightaway flight ever attempted, so was the accomplishment of the young Chilean army officer the breaking of the world's record for height in crossing mountain ranges. There are higher mountain chains than the Andes, but none, it is held, so difficult to cross by flying. To pass over the highest peaks has long been the ambition of Chilean and Argentinian aviators. The daring engineer, George Newberry of Argentina, was the first to be killed at the foot of one of them in an attempt to accomplish the feat. Another Argentinian engineer, Senor Mascias, also was killed. Lieutenant Zani next got within a few miles of the divide and was forced to come to earth. Flueros, the popular Chilean flyer, failed in turn. Bradley and Zuloaga, two aeronauts of Argentina, a year ago crossed the Andes in a balloon and Luis C. Candelaria crossed the southern ridge at a height of 2,000 meters from Zapala to Cuncu still later in an airplane.

Godoy's flight was made from Santiago to Mendoza, a distance of 210 kilometers in one hour and twenty-eight minutes at a height of 17,300 feet. He used a monoplane with a 110 horsepower Le Rhone motor. No account of his victorious achievement can excel the description he gives of it himself in a contribution to the Bulletin, in which he says:

"At last I was to get a bird's-eye view of the peaks upon which I had so often gazed from the track of my airplane. The Bristol mounted into space for a time. I had not yet looked downward. I had to watch my altimeter, my compass, the regular throbs of the oil engine and the revolutions of the motor. I had to change the carburization continually and regulate the Le Rhone; and then, when my altimeter had passed the 17,000 feet, I looked downward.

In Unknown World.

"I was in an unknown world. The mountain range stood out wonderfully clear; everywhere were canyons, immense black-mouthed valleys, gentle foothills and icy slopes. At the left Tupungato rose near me to my own height, or perhaps higher, like an enormous skyscraper, a magnificent yet graceful tower rearing itself toward heaven. On one side it had a long, gradual, almost horizontal slope, like a palm of the hand, white and frozen, but hospitable, inviting me to alight and linger. But the impression was fleeting. The Bristol told me I was going 180 or 190 kilometers an hour, hence the scenery altered rapidly. A moment later I crossed the frontier. My country was behind me; before me lay the sister nation and triumph—my slight but longed-for victory.

"At that moment the motor missed and nearly stopped. I guessed what was the matter. The automatic engine was not working and the gasoline couldn't reach the carburetor. I worked an instant and the engine and rotary started up again before the change had affected the apparatus. I had to land. So I lessened the supply of gas slightly and began to descend slowly. The needle, which had reached a maximum of 17,300 feet, gradually lowered. Then the battle began, which lasted perhaps three or four minutes. The plane seemed to be crazy. That morning there had been a windstorm on the Argentinian side. Perhaps that was the result of the cyclone. Then—calm again. And there in the distance among the far-away foothills, insignificant when contrasted with the huge bulks I had just left, rose the outline of the Mendoza, beyond the great plain, covered by a heavy veil of clouds."

ALLY COUNTRIES AWAIT TOURISTS

Expect Many Americans When Travel Becomes Normal.

WILL VISIT BATTLEFIELDS

England to Give Preferential Claim to Parents and Families of Fallen Soldiers—Feared That Anti-Alien Legislation Will Have Effect of Severely Circumscribing Ordinary Channels of Traffic—Merchants Are Hopeful.

Representatives of American tourist organizations are now in London, and some others have gone to Paris to survey travel conditions with a view to ascertaining when America's great peace time army of sightseers can hope to cross the Atlantic. They are not even optimistic, especially as there are fears that passport restrictions, even when the transport is available, will make the sightseer's lot a nerve-racking experience.

There are several classes of travel which are to be considered. The greatest sympathy is felt for parents and relatives who wish to visit the battlefields where sons or brothers fell. England hopes to give a preferential claim to this class of traveler as compared with those who are just carried by curiosity to the scenes of the great world battles. But families in England who have not had some relative fall in the war do not form a large proportion of the community.

Anti-Alien Regulations.
What is troubling many of the agencies which arrange for large numbers of travelers in ordinary years is the fact that anti-alien legislation here, and perhaps in the allied countries on the continent, will have the effect of severely circumscribing ordinary channels of traffic. According to the proposed anti-alien legislation in England it may be necessary for Americans as well as other aliens to continue the system of police registration before moving from one place to another. There has recently been some amelioration of this nuisance for Americans in England, on the initiative of Consul General Skinner, who has made it possible through negotiations with the aliens authorities to have Americans, after an initial registration, able to leave their permanent places of residence for other parts of the country without re-registering in visiting spots, as long as the traveler is not away from his permanent address more than 30 days.

It has been of the greatest assistance to business men, and if continued will eventually save lots of time and trouble to ordinary visitors.

European hotel men and pleasure resorts generally expect that 500,000 Americans will visit the allied countries, particularly England and France, in the first six months after there is any normality in travel.
Americans are estimated to have expended in the United Kingdom alone in the course of a summer $25,000,000.
For that reason there is every hope that the tide of travel will not be long postponed. Merchants are more sanguine of an early start of the tourist tide than are some of the experts who have been identified in the past with tourist travel, who estimate another six months before any considerable number of travelers will be able to come to Europe.

The European food problem, bolshevism, and racial antipathies on the continent in particular are believed to be serious problems which stand in the way of any early resumption of normal travel. Numbers of German-Americans or students of social conditions may decide to visit Germany within the next 12 months if the shadows of war and bolshevism are removed, but it is thought that the allied countries and the Riviera will attract many who formerly went to German health resorts.

Within a few weeks an express service between London, Paris, Lausanne and the near East, with a terminus in Constantinople, will be in working order. This route, according to travel experts here, is being established not only for economic reasons, but because a large part of European traffic to the near East will want to avoid Germany.

Until definite air rules for peacetime flying are decided upon in the different allied countries, travel agencies are unable to make up a "flying schedule" for intending American travelers, but they say that in the future air travel will be very popular with wealthy Americans.

TEACHING THEM TO SING CHANTIES

Chantey singing, which helped the old-time square-rig sailor through some of his hardest tasks, has been revived in the merchant marine through the training service conducted by the United States shipping board for preparing young Americans for a life at sea. The training service has an official chantey man, Stanton H. King, an old sailor, who teaches the apprentices the words and tunes of all the famous old chanties, like "Blow the Man Down," "Shenandoah," and "A Dollar a Day." The picture shows him putting a class of apprentices through their paces at chantey singing while they help warp their ship into her berth.

DOES NOT BELIEVE IN BOOSTING FOR INDIANAPOLIS

Mitchell Commercial Will Not Support Capital City Until Grafters Quit Bleeding the People.

The Mitchell Commercial says:
"We notice our exchanges were filled up with 'free dope' on Indianapolis speedway races, giving a lot of space absolutely free in order that the Indianapolis hotels may get another chance to hold up the people from out in the state. It costs no more to feed a man who attends the speedway races than it does a man who goes to Indianapolis at any other time of year, and if the hotels are not large enough to produce a profit when running to capacity without leading the patrons when there is anything extra going on they should have a lean-to added to them at once.
We are not going to boost for anything in Indianapolis until the grafters quit bleeding the people white.
Our county council did exactly the right thing when it refused to appropriate money to send our soldiers to Indianapolis to help that city pull off a big stunt and make the whole state pay for it. And incidentally give the hotels another whack at every 'bean' that showed up."

SAVED APIA FROM GERMANS

Interesting Now to Recall Commander
Leary's Defiance of Overbearing Teuton Captain.

Persons who have said the United States had no case against Germany prior to the sinking of the Lusitania and events dating from 1914 perhaps are unacquainted with the trouble over the Samoan Islands which occurred in the eighties. Attempts by Prince Bismark, then German chancellor, to dominate the islands, had been frustrated and a German consul had been withdrawn after he had caused a crisis by raising a German flag over Apia, one of the principal cities. Another consul, Herr Becker, acting on his government's instructions, again precipitated trouble by deposing the Samoan king and setting up a ruler favorable to German interest.

The climax came when the German corvette Adler prepared to shell Apia, the natives of which had become hostile to the Germans. Commander Richard Leary of the United States gunboat Adams had been in the vicinity of the islands expecting trouble. An account of what happened is a tribute to the courage of the American navy. It follows:

"At the appointed hour, the Adler steamed out with the German ensign flying at her peak. The Adams followed closely at her heels. Soon the Adler slowed down and swung into position, so as to bring her broadside guns to bear on the helpless village. The Adams dashed in between the Adler and the shore, where she, too, swung about, her guns at port and pointed directly at the Germans. Presently, Commander Leary in full uniform and accompanied by his staff, boarded the Adler. His colloquy with the German captain was short and sharp: 'If you fire,' he said, 'you must fire through the ship which I have the honor to command. I shall not be answerable for the consequences!' So saying, he took his leave.

"Captain Fritz could scarcely believe his ears. Such audacity had never yet confronted him. He knew that the first shot would be answered by an American broadside, and this would be the signal for a war between his country and the American republic. He flattered, and then, his heart swelling with humiliation, he steamed suddenly away."—Detroit News.

PEACE ARMY TO BE ALL-AMERICAN

Illiterates Will Be Drilled Mentally as Well as Physically.

CITIZENSHIP AS A REWARD

Major Ferris' Development Battalion at Camp Upton Furnishes Basis for New Activity—Splendid Results Already Shown.

Camp Upton, L. I.—The knowledge gained during the war in connection with the training and instruction of illiterate and non-English speakers is to be turned to account in the recruiting of a peace-time army.

By direction of the war department there is being established here the first "recruit educational center," for which 50 barracks and other buildings have been set aside, and it will be conducted on the lines followed by Maj. Ralph Hall Ferris when he made such a success of development battalion No. 6, which went out of being when the armistice was signed. Major Ferris is retiring as camp morale officer to become commander of the center, which is the outgrowth of his own plan.

Brigadier General Nicholson, camp commander, received within a few days the order to establish the center, and recruiting has begun throughout the eastern and northeastern departments of the army.

Will Be Taught English.

An illiterate or non-English-speaking recruit who enlists under the new plan will be taught to speak English, will receive thorough American training from officers born here, and will in addition get citizenship papers when his enlistment term of three years has expired.

Under the draft act 24.9 per cent of the men enlisted, or practically one-quarter of them, were unable to read a newspaper or write a letter home. There were 1,500 such men sent here and they were put in Major Ferris' development battalion. His method of training and educating them attracted attention in Washington. In the notification sent to General Nicholson by Maj. Gen. Henry Jervey, assistant chief of staff, he said: "Your camp has been selected not only because it is centrally located but also because of the excellent results in connection with the teaching of English that have been obtained in development battalion No. 6, Camp Upton."

On August 21, 1918, the Sixth development unit was organized and all rookies who were illiterate or did not speak English, except a few who had physical defects, were transferred to it. The teachers selected were privates or noncommissioned officers who held university degrees or who were teachers in civil life. Race was not considered in the choosing of officers. It was soon proven that squads and platoons composed of different nationalities received their military instruction as easily as if racial groups had been organized for the purpose. Only English was permitted to be spoken in the mess halls, military formations and general gatherings of the men. Instruction except in the elementary classes was given in English.

BOYS ATE 1,460 PANCAKES

One Hundred and Twenty Lads Exhausted Salvation Army Cooks.

One hundred and twenty boys ate 1,460 pancakes in establishing a new record for food consumption at the Salvation Army home at Lytton, Cal. Each cake was one-half inch thick, spread with sirup and large enough to cover a dinner plate.

The lads procured the feast by clearing an orchard of prunings. Five cooks almost dropped from exhaustion in an attempt to supply the food. The youngsters averaged 13 pancakes each. The fewest any boy consumed was eight; one lad tucked away 17. No casualties have been reported as a result of the feast.

GREAT LAKES LEADS THEM ALL

Nine and Three-Tenths Miles of Ships Produced in District in Year.

HIGH SPEED FROM START

One Hundred and Twenty-Five More Cargo Ships Delivered Than From All Other American Ways in the Same Time.

Washington.—Nine and three-tenths miles of clean-cut cargo ships. That is the latest official report on the contribution of the Great Lakes district yards to the American merchant marine. Held by canal restrictions to a lighter type of vessel than that made on the coasts, the district did not produce so many net tons as certain other sections. But it built more ships than any other district in the United States.

On September 1, 1917, the Great Lakes started to build for the government. The first ship turned over to the United States shipping board came from a Great Lakes yard. She was the Limoges, a 2,930-ton cargo carrier, under construction for French operators by the Toledo Shipbuilding company. On August 24, 1917, the Ninth district was created. It turned the Limoges over to the shipping board on August 30.

They had not permitted the grass to grow under their feet for some decades in that region of busy commerce. Now they saw to it that the ice did not grow under their ships. To beat not only the Hun but also the winter season was the first big task which the Ninth district faced. By almost superhuman effort the yards finished 27 vessels and got them to sea before the canals froze in 1917.

Production Rose Steadily.

When navigation opened in 1918 another fleet of 20 ships slipped newly built from the yards and went through the canals to the sea. From that date the Great Lakes production rose steadily until month after month the district turned out half the steel ships built in the United States, and sometimes more than half. Efficiency and energy combined in a veritable crusade of endeavor, and in November, 1918, the district touched the high point of its capacity. In that one month it built a fleet of 28 ships—nearly a ship a day.

This astounding output brought the total for the year up to 163 cargo vessels, one of them wood and the rest steel. In 12 months the Ninth district had produced just 125 more ships than all the American yards delivered in the year before America went to war.

Any narrative of the Great Lakes work is a progress from one shining triumph of this sort to another. The smallest yard of all, fitted with only three berths, actually delivered 13 ships in 1918 and finished a fourteenth only a little too late to get it out before winter. Between the end of November and the end of March it launched six ships more. Four of these are now completed and a fifth is almost ready for service. They are all of the 4,200-ton type.

Another yard built a 3,500-ton ship in 84 days. Another launched a 2,400-ton ship in 28 days. And a fourth yard broke the world's record when it launched a 3,500-ton ship in 17 days after the laying of the keel and delivered it completed to the shipping board in 14 days after the launching.

"Team Work" the Secret.

The ingenuity and co-operation which made such accomplishment possible were also what made the yards expand rapidly enough to meet wartime emergency and peace time necessity. There are 112 berths in the district now, 71 for cargo ships and 33 for tugs. The American Shipbuilding company has a yard of ten ways at Detroit, Mich.; of five at Superior, Wis.; of three at Buffalo, N. Y.; of six at Chicago, Ill.; of three at Cleveland, O.; of eight at Lorain, O.; the Great Lakes Engineering works has a yard of four ways at Ashtabula, O., and another of eight ways at Ecorse, Mich.; the McDougall-Duluth company has a yard of nine ways at Duluth, Minn.; the Manitowoc Shipbuilding company has a yard of six ways at Saginaw, Mich.; the Toledo Shipbuilding company has a yard of six ways at Toledo, O., and the Globe Shipbuilding company has a yard of five ways at Superior, Wis.

At all these yards the records for riveting, fabricating, tonnage per man, stand out like mountain peaks. For example, the average total number of rivet gangs in the district is about 10 per cent of the entire country, yet District Manager Benton points out joyously that the average output of these gangs enabled the lakes to deliver 30 per cent of the country's total ship tonnage.

"Team work" is the secret, according to the district executive, the builders, and the men. The district has been untroubled by strikes or other labor disturbances, or by disputes with builders.

Starved to Death.

St. Louis.—"Died of lack of nourishment," physicians wrote today on the death certificate of A. Jacobs. A bank book found in the pocket of the aged recluse showed a $400 balance,

7 A DAY FOR 7 DAYS

If Your Nerves Are Shaky Because of Over-Indulgence in Tobacco or Alcohol or by Excess of Any Kind, Bio-Feren is What You Need Right Away.

Don't grow old before your time, don't let nervousness wreck your happiness or chances in life. The man with strong, steady nerves is full of vigor, energy, ambition and confidence.

You can have nerves of steel, firm step, new courage and keen mind by putting your blood and nerves in first-class shape with mighty Bio-Feren, a new discovery, inexpensive and efficient.

Men and women who get up so tired in the morning that they have to drag themselves to their daily labor will in just a few days arise with clear mind, definite purpose and loads of ambition.

All you have to do is to take two Bio-Feren tablets after each meal and one at bedtime—7 a day for 7 days—then reduce to one after each meal until all are gone.

Then if your energy and endurance haven't doubled, if your mind isn't keener and eyes brighter, if you don't feel twice as ambitious as before, any druggist anywhere will return the purchase price—gladly and freely.

Bio-Feren is without doubt the grandest remedy for nervous, run-down, weak, anaemic men and women ever offered and is not at all expensive. All druggists in this city and vicinity have a supply on hand—sell many packages.

FASCINATING TEETH

How Every Woman Can Quickly Charm Her Friends With Lovely Teeth, Clean, White and Brilliant

If you want the cleanest of white teeth and healthy gums free from disease, an easy and quick way to get both is to use a tooth paste so effective and perfect that astonishing results usually come in a week's time.

And the cost is so little. Just go to any drug or department store, and get a large tube of SENRECO TOOTH PASTE for 35 cents.

Not only will it make your teeth clean and white, but it will at once remove any filmy coating, help to check the ravages of Pyorrhea and banish acidity in the mouth.

It is used by thousands of dentists and its sale has been remarkable. When you visit your dentist, which you should do at least twice a year, ask him about SENRECO. It's a most delightful and refreshing tooth paste.

HORRORS OF WAR

SHOWN IN COLLECTION

Many Relics Picked Up by American Soldiers Now to Be Seen.

Guns, knives, saw-edge bayonets, gas masks for men, horses and pigeons; all classes of helmets, an anti-tank gun, a field amputation chair—these are some of the more striking features of an unusually interesting collection of relics of the great war now being shown to visitors at the United States National museum in Washington.

This collection, which has been loaned to the museum by Maj. Gen. H. L. Rogers, quartermaster general, United States army, was for the most part picked up by American soldiers on the battlefields of France, in the Argonne forest, at Chateau-Thierry, at St. Mihiel and at Verdun.

Probably the most striking single object is a cartridge case for the 420-mm. (16.55-inch) German howitzer, the largest fixed ammunition in the world. These giants of destruction were used in leveling the Belgian forts, which were thought to be indestructible.

One of the horrors of poison gas warfare was that not only were men exposed to it, but also animals, the artillery horses and ammunition mules, dogs and pigeons, which had no means of combating the gas.

A canvas chair used by the German surgeons in making amputations in the field is in the collection and shows unmistakable signs of having been used many times.

Grand Duke Nicholas Had Rasputin Flogged

London.—Lieut. Col. Napier, formerly attached to the staff of Grand Duke Nicholas, told a story of Rasputin, the hypnotist monk of the late czar. Rasputin one day bounced into the presence of the grand duke at general headquarters, exclaiming: "Do you know who I am?" "Who are you?" the grand duke replied. "Rasputin!" "Are you?" the grand duke replied. "Well, I am going to have you flogged this time, and if you come here again I will have you hanged." Rasputin was flogged and the grand duke was the only man in Russia who dared to have it done.

Of Course Not.

CHAPTER XVII.

A Murder on Board.

To be certain of free space I extended one hand and my fingers came into unexpected contact with the back of a chair. Without moving my body I grasped this welcome weapon of defense and swung it above my head. Whoever the invader creeping upon us might prove to be, he was certainly an enemy, actuated by some foul purpose, and no doubt armed. To strike him down as quickly and silently as possible was therefore the plain duty of the moment. I had no other thought.

The slowness with which he groped his way forward indicated unfamiliarity with the apartment, although his direct advance proclaimed some special purpose. Clearly he had no fear of attack. I could determine almost his exact position as his advancing foot felt cautiously along the deck. He came forward inch by inch. I measured the distance as indicated by faint, shuffling sounds.

I could not see but I knew. With all my force I struck! Blindly as it had been delivered the blow hit fair; there was a thud, an inarticulate groan, and the fall of a body upon the floor—beyond that nothing. I waited breathlessly listening for the slightest movement. I felt Dorothy touch my shoulder and caught the sound of her voice trembling at my ear.

"What is it? What did you do?"
"I struck him with a chair; he lies

Quit Laxatives, Purges; Try NR

NR Tonight—Tomorrow Feel Right

It is a mistake to continually dose yourself with so-called laxative pills, calomel, oil, purges and cathartics and force bowel action. It weakens the bowels and liver and makes constant dosing necessary.

Why don't you begin right today to overcome your constipation and get your system in such shape that daily purging will be unnecessary? You can do so if you get a 25c box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and take one each night for a week or so. NR Tablets do much more than merely cause pleasant easy bowel action. This medicine acts upon the digestive as well as eliminative organs—promotes good digestion, causes the body to get the nourishment from all the food you eat, gives you a good, hearty appetite, strengthens the liver, overcomes biliousness, regulates kidney and bowel action and gives the whole body a thorough cleaning out. This accomplished you will not have to take medicine every day. An occasional NR tablet will keep your body in condition and you can always feel your best.

Try Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and prove this. It is the best bowel medicine that you can use and costs only 25c per box, containing enough to last twenty-five days. Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is sold, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.

there on the deck. Wait where you are."

I bent over and touched him. The fellow lay in a heap with no perceptible heart-beat, no semblance of breathing. My fingers sought his face, and I could scarcely suppress a cry of surprise—he was not Estada. Who, then, was he? What could have been his purpose in thus invading this stateroom? All I could grasp was the fact that the fellow was not the Portuguese—he possessed a smooth face, long hair, and was a much smaller man. I dragged the body where the light illumination from the after port fell directly on the upturned face. The features revealed were unfamiliar—those unquestionably of a half-breed Indian. Dorothy crossed to my side, her foot striking a knife, which came glimmering into the narrow range of light. She stared in horror at the ugly weapon, and then at the ghastly countenance.

"He came to murder! See, his knife lies there. Why should he have sought to kill me?"

"It is all mystery," I admitted. What shall be done with the body? It cannot be left lying exposed here; no one would believe you killed him, and my presence must not be suspected.

"Could it," she suggested, "be dropped through the port?"

She shrank back from touching the inanimate figure, yet it required the combined efforts of both to force the stiffening body through the porthole. We could distinguish footsteps on the deck above, but these were regular and undisturbed—the slow promenade from rail to rail of the officer on watch. Clearly nothing had been heard or seen to awaken suspicion.

"If you should be questioned tomorrow you had best know nothing," I said gravely. "I do not think you will be, for surely an attack can be no plan of Estada's. It could gain no advantage. The fellow was pillaging on his own account; if he is missed it will be supposed he fell overboard, and no one will care. You are not afraid to remain here alone?"

"No; I am not greatly frightened, but shall try and bar the door with a chair. I have no key."

"Then I'll leave you; half of my watch below must be gone by now. I'll take the fellow's knife along, as it must not be found here."

We parted with a clasp of hands, as I opened the stateroom door and slipped out into the cabin. To my surprise the light over the table had been extinguished, rendering the cabin so black I had to actually feel my way forward. The lantern must have been put out since then by some confederate. After a moment of hesitation I found my way across to my own stateroom and pressed open the door.

The hilt of the knife in my belt attracted my attention, and I drew it forth, curious to learn if it bore any mark of ownership. My eyes were instantly attracted to a dark stain on both hilt and blade. I held it to the light—it was the stain of blood, and my hands were also reddened by it. In that first instant of horror I hurled the weapon out through the open port into the sea. Blood! There had been murder committed on board, and the fellow I had struck down was seeking refuge, endeavoring to find concealment following his crime. Ay, but what about the light in the cabin? It had been extinguished after the fleeing fugitive had entered Dorothy's stateroom. Did this mean that the slayer had an accomplice? If so, then the killing was not the result of a mere personal quarrel amidst ships, or in the forecastle, but the result of some conspiracy. I thought of Sanchez, and of Estada's plan to obtain control of the ship. Could this be its culmination? And was the Spaniard already lying dead in his cabin?

Nothing came of my thought—only confusion; nor did I dare investigate for fear of becoming more deeply involved in the tragedy. No, there was nothing to be done; my safety, and the safety of the girl depended on our apparent ignorance of what had occurred. Convincing myself of this, I washed the blood stains from my hands and lay down in the bunk fully dressed to await my call.

When called I exchanged but few words with LeVere. He went quickly to his room. Nothing of importance occurred during my watch.

The dawn came cold and gray but with clearing skies. I climbed into the main crossbeams and swept the horizon with a glass. Not so much as a speck rewarded my efforts, and I descended the ratlines, shouting to the boatswain to call the port watch. Watkins came aft to the wheel and I sent the fellow thus relieved down into the cabin to rout out LeVere. The two returned to deck together, the negro glancing about curiously without mounting the ladder.

"You call Senor Estada yet?" he questioned.

"No; I had no orders to do so."

"He told me call him at daylight. Here you, Amada; go wake up the senor."

The seaman disappeared, while LeVere crossed the poop deck and stood beside me looking out across the expanse of sea.

Amada emerged from the companion and stared up at us, shading his mouth with one hand as he spoke.

"He answer nothing, Senor LeVere."

"Was the door locked?"

"I know not, senor; I not try to open it."

"The pig-headed swine," said LeVere.

"He swine," said LeVere, "I suppose I'll have to go myself."

"We'll go down together, senor," I said quietly. "Estada must be sick; I could hear the rumpus Amada kicked up even on deck here. No man could sleep through that racket."

POSTMASTER 63 YEARS

West Virginia Official Has Great Record.

Loves the Work and Expects to Hold Job for Many Years More.

Elkins, W. Va.—Many postmasters and other federal office holders cling tenaciously to their jobs, but it is doubtful if any can boast of a record that will compare with that of George P. Moore, who has been postmaster at Edray, Pocahontas county, continuously for 63 years. Mr. Moore says he expects to continue handling the mail at Edray for ten or twenty years longer. He is now eighty-four years old.

When a post office was established at Edray, in 1853, Mrs. J. K. Moore, mother of the present postmaster, was made postmistress. Three years later she was succeeded by her son, who was appointed during the administration of President Franklin Pierce. Mr. Moore has served continuously since that day and has given such satisfaction that patrons of the office say they will not allow him to give up the job until his physical condition makes it necessary.

Postmaster Moore holds the job because he loves the work and because the people insist, not because he needs it. He is engaged in the mercantile business, owns a large farm and is president of the First National bank of Marlinton. All of these enterprises, including the post office, get his personal attention.

LOOKED LIKE A SHADOW

And Was Weak And Nervous.
Says Cardui Restored Her Health.

Leavenworth, Ind.—Mrs. Hattie Curtis, of this place, writes: "Before the birth of my first child I was nervous and weakly, had been from the time of my marriage. I was so frail, I looked like a shadow, my skin was yellow, I didn't weigh but one hundred and nine pounds. All were uneasy about me and thought I would get down in bed."

I had heard what a wonderful help Cardui was to weak women and decided to try it. I took Cardui four months regular. I felt like a different woman. When my baby came I had a right hard time, but my strength seemed there to stay, for I was strong and healthy and have been ever since.

I now weigh 167 lbs., and people who knew me when I was so weakly often speak of it. And often people do not recognize me, I look so well."

Back of Cardui, the woman's tonic, stands the experience of thousands of people—women, who have been benefited by it; physicians, who have prescribed it in their practice, with good results.

If you suffer, as most women do at times, from female ailments, is not such a medicine worthy of a trial? NCR-18

GIRL COULDN'T STAND CLOTHES TO TOUCH HER

"My father got me a bottle of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy for stomach trouble, and I am feeling so much better since taking it. My stomach was so painful I couldn't stand my clothes to touch me." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. For sale by "Druggists Everywhere."

sonal attention. In addition to his many business affairs, Mr. Moore is the pastor of the Southern Methodist church at Edray and finds time to prepare two sermons a week besides conducting the regular weekly prayer meeting.

KEEP PATENT MEDICINE TAX

Manufacturers of Simple Preparations Must Pay Government for Fancy Names.

Washington.—Many manufacturers of proprietary remedies advertised as more efficacious than simple preparations on which no patent or proprietary right exists have besieged the internal revenue bureau recently with claims that their articles were nothing more than the simple preparations, though marketed under fancy names.

Thus, the manufacturers asserted, the remedies were not taxable, under the provision of the revenue act assessing a tax of 1 cent on each 25 cents' worth of proprietary remedy or toilet preparations sold at retail stores since May 1.

Regulations on toilet and medicinal articles issued by the bureau provide, however, that these preparations are taxable if put out under a proprietary name, with the formula not announced, regardless of the actual composition.

WOULD MINE COAL UNDER SEA

Nova Scotia Company Awaits Legislation Before Proceeding With Experiment.

Halifax, N. S.—Submarine coal mining may be attempted in the areas north of Sydney Harbor, and for some distance south, through proposed legislation now before the Nova Scotia law makers.

Leases to certain submarine mining districts have been held by the Dominion Coal company and the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal company. There has been a dispute between these concerns regarding the privileges.

The proposed legislation would give mining rights in the submarine area to the Dominion company with the understanding that operations would start as soon as possible.

"By the time the peace treaty is signed we shall be talking across the Atlantic by wireless," says Godfrey Isaacs, managing director of the Marconi Wireless Telegraph company. "One day in the not far distant future," he adds, "I think we shall walk about with wireless telephones attached to our bodies and we shall be able, standing, say in Piccadilly circus, to call up a friend who is flying somewhere. Or we may have an invitation by wireless telephony from a friend flying in France to join him at dinner in the evening. It will not be very long before one will be able to sit at one's desk in London and speak to New York practically instantaneously. In my view it will be as easy to speak to Sydney or Melbourne or to New Zealand."

Music as Health Aid.

Doctor Saleeby, the British eugenics advocate, suggests that the new ministry of health should have a special department to deal with recreation. The department should take London choirs and choral societies singing, in which all could engage. In his view this department would keep the young persons off the streets and out of the saloons.

A scheme for a confederation of London choirs and choral societies with the idea of directing the masses in the celebration of national rejoicings instead of the senseless mafficking that was in evidence on armistice night is being considered by several musicians.

Welcome News.

Mayor Woodman was speaking about the results that have accrued from the merging of the two telephone systems. "It's a wonderful improvement," he remarked, "and I laugh when I think of the old days. It reminds me of the man who was called out of bed at three o'clock in the morning to answer a phone call.

"Hello, hello," he yelled, all wrought up.

"There is nobody on the line now," said central sweetly.

"Glad you woke me up and told me about it," retorted the man, "it's the first time I ever knew this line to be idle."—Los Angeles Times.

Egg Production.

The average production of eggs by hens of all kinds and ages in the United States is 85. Unselected White Leghorns, however, produce an average of 130 eggs for the first year, 120 for the second, 110 for the third, 85 for the fourth, and fall off about ten a year up to the eighth. These figures are from a bulletin of the Utah experiment station. If the first year production be low the second will be high and vice versa, the total production for three years being about the same.

Notice to Public.

(No More Cabin Parties.)

For several years I have permitted parties of people to use the cabin grounds at Peters Switch, but this privilege is with-called. I find this action necessary because of the destruction and abuse of both the cabin and boats by persons permitted to use them as well as others who had no permission to enter the grounds. Many have been under the impression that the cabin was rented for a cash consideration, but this was never true. The outside gates as well as the gate leading into the lane are now locked and trespassers will be prosecuted. At present the cabin is undergoing repairs, after which time I will use it as a summer home. J. J. Peter.

Kipling's Fame.

The vogue of Kipling today is not what it once was. Fewer find fellowship with those descendants of Bar-dolph, Nym and Pistol, the Soldiers Three.
